

drugs destroy dreams

Too many people find out about drugs and alcohol the hard way, and way too many cool dreams get wasted along the way. If drinking or drugs are turning your dreams upside down, admit it — and get the help you need to put your dreams back on track. If they're not a problem for you, don't let them become one. Because dreams aren't meant to be wasted. They're meant to be worked on.

